TWO SCENES .- Scene First: Two lovers by moon light alone. He: "You ought to know I love you darling." She looks down, blushes, and-snuffs. He: "Don't you love me just the least little bit?" She: "Yes (snuffs), I love you ever so much (snuff); I could die for you." [Snuff and kisses ad infinium.] Secene Second.-One year after marriage. He "Confound it! I wish you would break yourself of that disgusting habit of snuffing." She (depreciatingly): "I can't help it. Charite: I've had the catarrh four or five years." He: "Forgive me, dear, I didn't mean to be cross, but in the name of Cupid get some of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. They say It is a sure cure. You know Ed. Brown; they said he was incurable, and it cured him completely. She: "I'll do anything to please you, Charlie." [Interesting tableau.
